#TakeOnTomorrow

By following a new path.

Whether you’re still studying your undergraduate degree, or you completed it a while ago, dreams and aspirations can change.

During your first degree you developed a range of valuable transferable skills. By combining those with a Masters in a completely new subject, you can open the door to a career that suits who you are today.

Choose from courses across:
Arts • Built Environment • Business • Computer & Information Sciences • Design • Education • Humanities • Law • Project Management • Psychology • Social Sciences

Look out for sessions marked with this icon; they’ll give you information on a course that’s open to students from a different undergraduate background. Please note that some courses do require a broad knowledge of a subject area.
