

This is a call for papers for the North East PGR Law Forum Conference 2019 which is to be held at Northumbria University Law School on 27th of June 2019. The theme of the conference this year is: 'Transnational law in the era of globalisation: ensuring justice in a globalised world'.

The North East Law Forum, organised by Newcastle University Law School and Northumbria University Law School, is pleased to announce the seventh annual North East PGR Law Forum Conference following the success of previous conferences. Follow us @NELawForum.

The conference provides a great opportunity for postgraduate, Masters, and PhD students to present their research in a friendly and supportive environment. This conference is for any PGR students, from any institution, whose research is connected to the law.

The conference unites the postgraduate community in a celebration of collaboration and diversity, with prizes for winning papers, Pecha Kuchas and posters. The aim of this conference is to facilitate a dialogue and exchange ideas on contemporary legal issues with other researchers and academics, through the presentation of research.

All forms of presentations will be judged by academics from Northumbria and Newcastle Law Schools, who will provide valuable feedback on presentation, content and delivery. This Forum is an excellent opportunity to present and challenge your research, whether it is your first paper or not! Lunch will be provided and there will be a drinks reception at the end of the conference. This is a further opportunity to meet fellow PGRs and to network with academics from various institutions.

We welcome abstracts in all areas of law including but not limited to:

- Public International Law
- (International) Criminal Law
- Environmental law
- Refugee and Asylum
- Private international law, issues of jurisdiction
- Company Law/Corporate Governance
- Human Rights and Equality
- EU Law
